

Whose is it?

Giving Credit Where Credit is Due

Whose is it?

“Don’t have a cow man.”

Whose is it?

Whose is it?

“I was born this way”

Whose is it?

Whose is it?

“May the odds ever be in your favor.”

Whose is it?

Whose is it?

“Neither a borrower nor a lender be”

Whose is it?

Whose is it?

“Life is like a box of chocolates.”

Whose is it?

Whose is it?

A photograph of a dark, textured chalkboard. The equation  $E=mc^2$  is written in white chalk, centered on the board. The 'E' is a simple capital letter, followed by an equals sign, then a lowercase 'm', and finally 'c' with a superscript '2'.

Whose is it?

“Goin’ gorillas”

Whose is it?

Whose is it?

